Walking in own shoes with Birkenstock insole

Having difficulty weaning out of a walker boot?

Try a BIRKENSTOCK insole as recommended by podiatrists nationwide.

The BIRKENSTOCK comfort insole will give you that all important support while transitioning from walker boot to shoe by supporting your arches and entire footbed.

Made from foam latex with leather upper, the footbed has been designed on the footprint of a healthy foot.

Based on NHS post-patient survey results, 89% of podiatrists wholly recommend this insole to help with comfort when weaning out of the walker boot.

Can be inserted into any shoe.

Testimonials

This has got to be the best insole I have ever tried! It really helped me when I started wearing shoes again. I would highly recommend this insole and won't use any others again!
